

Fiction BasicsInstructor: Catherine Ozment

Are you ready to start writing? This course will cover the basics of fiction, emphasizing process over craft to give you the fundamentals you need to get a story started. Class time will combine instruction with writing practice as students learn about character, setting, dialogue, conflict, and plot and immediately put their knowledge to work. Students will have opportunities to share their writing, but this class does not include a formal workshop. No writing experience required, all genres welcome.
